New limits for Organic blue poppy

Changed maximum content of opium alkaloids

New maximum levels for opium alkaloids in poppy seeds and baked goods have been in effect since July 1, 2022. Poppy seeds come from the opium poppy and contain naturally occurring opium alkaloids. Regulation (EC) 1881/2006 sets a maximum content of 20 mg/kg for poppy seeds that are placed on the market for the end consumer. For bakery products containing poppy seeds, a maximum content of 1.50 mg/kg applies. This is a sum parameter, which is composed of the morphine content and the codein content.

Since opium alkaloids occur naturally in the plant, they are also subject to natural variations. Based on our many years of experience with this product and close cooperation with our expert suppliers, we are confident that we will be able to meet the new limits.

Organic Walnuts crop 2022

A market overview

Suppliers of walnuts from Eastern Europe are expecting a good quality harvest. However, due to drought with resulting diseases, the harvest date will be delayed by several weeks (end of October - beginning of November). In this way, farmers are trying by all means to avoid a 20-25% lower expected crop yield. As a result, there will be a high quantity of small to medium sized walnuts.

The situation in India is somewhat different. Here, 15-40% less raw product is expected due to snowfall in winter and heavy rainfall in summer. Regardless, good quality is expected here as well.

Punitive tariffs on foreign origins have led to greater demand domestically, resulting in less export commodity available. In addition, the domestic market is given priority at the start of harvest due to the coinciding date of the Indian Christmas. This results in a shift of larger export volumes to mid-November.
