The gourmet oil for gourmets:
Organic Avocado Oil
A superfood from Kenya

Originally, the avocado trees come from the tropical rainforests of Mexico and Central America, but are now cultivated worldwide. The origin of our organic avocado oil virgin (also available as organic avocado oil RBD) is in a sustainable cultivation project in the Mount Kenya region. There, the 6-15 meter high avocado trees grow in mixed culture alongside macadamia trees and coffee plants. These are exclusively old-growth trees between 10 and 30 years old. The avocado tree needs plenty of water and light. However, at an altitude of 1000 - 2500 meters in a relatively humid climate, these trees are not supplied by any artificial irrigation, guaranteeing sustainable production. Organic avocado oil is obtained by cold pressing and contains an above-average amount of unsaturated omega-9 fats, which can lead to lower cholesterol levels. Our oil is characterized by excellent quality: mild nutty taste and fruity green color.

The cooperation with our environmentally friendly cultivation project has existed for many years and is marked by success. Regular audits ensure top quality.

Our premium organic avocado oil consists exclusively of high-quality raw materials. This makes it unique and healthy.

Organic-Macadamia oil

The oil of the queen of nuts

Another product of the same cultivation project is our also excellent organic macadamia oil virgin. Of course, here too the trees are not irrigated artificially. By supporting the small farmers from the region, a valuable contribution to fair trade is made.

The cold pressed oil of the highest quality has a unique mild and nutty flavor and is pressed from the high quality macadamia nut.

Likewise, we can offer organic macadamia flour microfine milled with a high protein content of 24 - 26%. Its high mineral content makes it attractive for vegan diets. In addition, it can be substituted for conventional flour, making it suitable for gluten-free diets.

Known for particularly fine taste:
Organic coconut oil virgin (VCO) cold pressed and versatile

As the third product of one of our cultivation projects for high-quality oils, we can offer our organic virgin coconut oil (VCO). For many years we have benefited from the close exchange with our organically certified suppliers in Sri Lanka and the Philippines. It is produced from the dried coconut flakes of coconuts, which mostly do not grow in palm plantations.

In addition, we also offer refined organic coconut oil (RBD). This light-colored, neutral oil is similar to palm oil in consistency and fatty acid composition and is therefore suitable as a substitute in food production. A by-product of VCO production is organic coconut flour. It is obtained from the fresh coconut meat of organic coconuts. For this purpose, it is gently dried, de-oiled and then ground into a fine flour.
