Our Naturland-products

Naturland

Promotion of global eco and social standards

Naturland is the largest international association for organic farming from Germany. As a strong community, it is committed to a sustainable future worldwide, whereby “organic” also always means “social”. In addition to certification, advice and networking, the association is involved internationally in development projects, research and knowledge transfer. This is because organic farming strengthens rural regions, protects the climate and environment and ensures food security worldwide. We source our products from accredited small farmers' cooperatives from all over the world that comply with strict guidelines.
