Introduce sustainable organic coconut quality to your assortment

Our organic coconut products come from regions where coconut palms are traditionally cultivated in diverse agroforestry systems. The crops are grown without synthetic pesticides, without chemical fertilizers, and without genetic engineering. Instead, our partners rely on natural soil care, organic fertilization, and manual harvesting methods. Every batch is organically certified and fully traceable along the entire supply chain. Our raw materials are sourced predominantly from smallholder farming structures. Through long-term partnerships, we help secure stable incomes and strengthen regional value creation. Mixed cropping systems protect biodiversity, natural shading preserves soil moisture, and sustainable land management maintains soil fertility for generations to come.
